Won From Paducah Here by Local Nine.

Hopkinsville Club Playing Good Ball and Climbing the Ladder in the "Standing Column."

Hopkinsville won both games from Paducah, played here last week. The third of the series was scheduled to be played yesterday, but we went to press before the score was announced.

It was Paducah's first appearance on the Hopkinsville diamond this season and the visitors got the small end of the score both Friday and Saturday. Both were good games and were witnessed by large crowds. Batteries Friday: For Hopkinsville, Keeler and Street; Paducah, Wilson and Edmunds.

The score was 9 to 3. On Saturday the game was much closer, the score being 3 to 1. Edwards pitched for the locals and the way he manipulated the ball was a caution to the batters. Only seven hits were made off him and there was only one error made by the home team. It was a beautiful game, in fact one of the prettiest ever played on the Hopkinsville Diamond.

Other games Saturday played by the K. I. T. league resulted as follows: Clarksville 7, Cairo 3; Henderson 2, Jackson 6.

The last of the series of True to the reputation which Kentuckians have long since estab-

"women folks", the executive committee of the state fair has certainly dealt most generously with them in awarding the premium list in the woman's department.

Not only are the premiums the largest offered by any state in the union, ($750.00 having been allotted to this one department,) but so wide is their scope and so broad their purpose to reach every class, that one may be well repaid by a careful study of the lists.

OCULISTS FOR SCHOOLS.

London Will Hereafter Have Experts
Look After Children's Eyes.

At a recent meeting of the London school board, over which Lord Itay presided, a report was presented in which the general purposes committee recommended the appointment of six oculists at a cost of £875 per year, says the London Telegraph. According to the medical officer, the percentage of school children with normal vision increased with every year of age and standard of advance during school life, reaching 80 per cent. with standard, seventh. Ten per cent. all through school life had bad vision, and this remained about a constant proportion. The percentages of defect appeared to vary more with the social and nutritive conditions of the children, and with racial popularity than with any school conditions, for school effects from fine work and poor illumination were more likely to show themselves in general nerve strain and unhealthy neurotic, nutritional conditions than in very defective visual acuity during school life.

The medical officer further stated that the selection of children whose efficiency in school is damaged by dirt, parasites, chronic diseases of ears or impaired visual acuity is just beginning. The treatment of all these matters is tedious, has to be thorough, but is a routine of the most monotonous and uninteresting description. The burden at present falls on the hospitals, and they have not yet adapted themselves to it.

Whether even with time they ever can efficiently discharge this public duty is at least doubtful. The vision examinations show 10 per cent. of the 600,000 school children in London so bad that detailed investigation and possibly treatment are necessary. An equal number with slighter defects would also benefit by this. It is found at hospitals or elsewhere that a large of this last class on further examination come out normal as regards acuity, and may require no treatment. No amount of reasonable means can eliminate these in school. Regarding vision only, the conclusions are that from 10,000 to 20,000 are examined annually in London ought to have detailed medical examination, and, if required, treatment, if the best educational results are to be secured, and their future efficiency is to be promoted. After the recommendation of the committee was adopted by 25 to 6.

EXCESS IN GOLF.

English Publication Feels Called to Sound a Warning Word.

Much time is spent over golf, and men bring to bear on the game energy and a devotion to detail which ought to be expended upon serious things. This kind of enthusiasm for a form of recreation, the London Lancet, cannot be regarded as merely a struggle to maintain the standard of physical fitness on which mental health depends. It must rather be looked upon as an immediate attention to a game which is an admirable thing in itself, but which we admit to be an excellent game even while we desire to sound a warning word against its cult. It cannot be played carelessly and assiduous practice is required after the position in the handicap list is somewhat contemptuously described as "domestic twelve" has been reached, if a higher standard is to be attained. It is exactly here that it proves, to our thinking, a pitfall for many men. Whatever is worth doing is worth doing well, is an axiom that every thinking man must cordially endorse. As no one can play golf well without the sacrifice of much time, the workingman is soon brought to a parting of three ways. Shall he leave off playing a game in which he can only excel by much expenditure of time? Or shall he continue to play moderately a game which feels that he could, and he would, play much better? Or shall he give more thought than is right to what, at best, is but laborious idleness? We hope that all our readers will take the middle course. Let them reap the undoubted good that is offered them by a break in their round of hard and brisk exercise on open hill and moor, and let those of them who are not brilliant exponents of golf recognize cheerfully that excellence only come by the neglect of more important things.

Mr. L. K. SARTO A DARK HORSE.

It is stated on good authority from Rome that on the first ballot Saturday Cardinal Sarto obtained only one vote. Cardinal Rampolla received twenty-four, Cardinal Serafini Vannutelli fifteen and the remainder were divided among Cardinals Gotti, Oreglia and other candidates. The same distribution of votes was repeated in several ballots. It was not until Monday that Cardinal Sarto's candidature began to gain ground, some "neutral" Cardinals giving him their suffrages. On Monday evening Cardinal Rampolla got his supporters to give their votes to Cardinal Sarto, who thus obtained more than thirty, and on Tuesday morning received forty-two votes or one more than a two-thirds majority, as there were sixty-two Cardinals in the conclave.—American.

DAMAGE SUITS.

Two Filed Against the Illinois Central Road.

Two damage suits were filed yesterday against the Illinois Central Railroad Company, aggregating $2,000.

Hugh Lander, a youth under 21 years of age, through his brother and next friend John Lander, sues for $2,000 and John Lander himself sues for $1,000. The petitions allege that the defendant Hugh Lander was en route from Louisville to Hopkinsville July 26 and his brother had gone to Princeton to meet him. They were waiting for a connecting train at Princeton and they were walking near the track in a well beaten and much used path some eight feet from track, and when passing an engine standing on the track, a large stream of hot water and steam was thrown upon them injuring them both, and that Hugh Lander was especially injured, being badly scalded on his left leg and temporarily disabled. Their attorneys are C. H. Bush and J. W. Knight.

The department responded promptly, but it was impossible to keep the roof from being burned from the house, a cottage. The contents of the house were removed in a damaged condition. Mr. Lacy's loss is probably $1,000, upon which he carried insurance with Higgins & Son.

It is announced at the department that there is remaining unallotted of the appropriation for the present fiscal year a sufficient sum to establish about 4,000 additional routes.

Bogus Ballots Differently Stamped From the Regulars.

Taylor-Lovett Contest is Again Taken Up

Further inquiry in the contest of L. K. Taylor against John G. Lovett, for the Democratic nomination for commonwealth's attorney, serves to lay bare apparent gross frauds in Marshall county.

Mr. Taylor and his lawyers now state as a positive fact that bogus ballots in number have been found in at least one box and that their presence is suspected in many others. This fact, they say today, was proven Thursday evening beyond a reasonable doubt.

The committee of the Second judicial district, composed of C. W. Morrison, of McCracken, and George H. Edwards, of Marshall, will meet here tonight to vote on the question of declaring the primary of May 3 null so far as it pertains to the race for commonwealth's attorney. It is a foregone conclusion that Mr. Morrison will vote for such action and Mr. Edwards against it. This will leave a deadlock.

The party law says such a contest may go before the state central committee, while the state law is silent on the subject. If it should be found that Mr. Taylor has no recourse in the state courts he will probably lose his contest. In this event some of his friends have urged him to run as an independent candidate.

Mr. Taylor stated today that the manner in which fraud had been practiced, was evident. He said that some person or persons had made false returns of the vote cast in Marshall county and that, then finding a contest would be made and the ballots actually counted, took steps to cover up the fraud. He alleges that first a number of ballots cast for him were removed and that unused ballots in the back of the stub books were marked in favor of Lovett and substituted. There still being a deficiency he says the parties to the fraud had forged ballots printed. He declares he is in possession of proof showing that the ballots were printed in this city and promises further sensations.

Mr. Taylor declared this morning that whether or not he loses his contest he will send the men whom he says robbed him to the penitentiary.

Mr. Taylor, Chairman Morrison and C. M. Leake, who printed the official ballots, returned from Benton Thursday evening, all fully satisfied that gross fraud and felony had been perpetrated in Marshall. With these gentlemen came W. M. Reed and Tom Critz, counsel for Mr. Lovett, and J. C. Flournoy, who is one of Mr. Lovett's legal representatives.

The contest was taken up again Thursday afternoon at the court house in Benton. Lovett's side objected to Mr. Leake being allowed to testify. Chairman Morrison finally decided that Mr. Leake should be heard.

Being sworn he testified positively that many ballots cast at Heights for Mr. Lovett were rank forgeries. He affirmed that he printed the official ballots and that the ballots shown him were evidently printed elsewhere, the type being different from any in his establishment. Only the ballot box at Heights was examined. Mr. Flournoy deputed that the other boxes be opened, but he was told that the keys were in the possession of the election officers.

It was also discovered that the bogus ballots were stamped with purple ink, where all the legal ballots were stamped with either red or black ink.

Ribs Broken.

Not Over-Wise.
There is an old allegorical picture of a girl scared at a grass-hopper, but in the act of heedlessly treading on a snake. This is paralleled by the man who spends a large sum of money building a cyclone cellar, but neglects to provide his family with a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy as a safeguard against bottle complaints, whose victims outnumber those of the cyclone a hundred to one. This remedy is everywhere recognized as the most prompt and reliable medicine in use for these diseases. For sale by C.

Collapse of a Bridge.
Over 100 persons were thrown into the Willamette river at Portland, Ore., and three of them were drowned by the collapse of a bridge from which a crowd of spectators was watching an armless swimmer.

Look In The Glass.
What do you see? A face covered with pimples, blotches, or blackheads, a yellow skin, lustreless eyes—do you know what the trouble is? Are you going to continue to use soaps, powders or other cosmetics, or will you remove the cause by getting your system in order? If your stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels are in good condition, your complexion will be a right again in a short time. Dr.
Caldwell's (Laxative) Syrup Pepino regulates the organs of digestion and secretion. Sold by all druggists on the manufacturers' guarantee.

No Trace of Prisoners.
No trace has yet been found of the twelve surviving prisoners who escaped from the penitentiary at Folsom, Cal., on Monday last week, although hundreds of heavily armed men have been searching for them ever since.

Coming as it does, in the busiest season, when a man can least afford to lose time, a sure and quick cure for diarrhoea is very desirable.
Anyone who has given it a trial will tell you that the quickest, surest and most pleasant remedy in use for this disease is Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. There is no loss of time when it is used, as one or two doses of it will cure any ordinary attack. It never fails, not even in the most severe and dangerous cases. For sale

Troops to be Disbanded.
Though occasional disturbances are still reported in Macedonia, the Porte announces that 40,000 troops there are soon to be disbanded.
Austria and Russia will, it is said, demand the removal of the chief of police, at Salonica.

Mrs. Mollie Allen, of South Fork, Ky., says she has prevented attacks of cholera morbus by taking Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets when she felt an attack coming on. Such attacks are usually caused by indigestion and these tablets are just what is needed to cleanse the stomach and ward off the approaching attack. Attacks of bilious colic may be prevented in the same way. For sale by C. K.
Wyly druggist.

ONE WAY TO FIGHT A PLAGUE.

Music a Successful Means of Fighting Some Common Pests.
An electrical engineer employed by Mr. Edison was lately engaged upon some experimental work on harmonic telegraphy. He happened to notice that when the note given out by the instrument reached a certain pitch all the mosquitoes in the neighborhood came flying towards the apparatus. The workman procured a quantity of fly paper, with which he covered the machine, and so succeeded in capturing thousands of the noxious insects.

The cause of this queer musical attraction, says London Answers, seems to be that the note produced by the machine was exactly similar to that caused by the rapid vibration of the wings of the mosquito when flying.
Sir Hiram Maxim has since made experiments of a similar kind, and found that a tuning fork, giving a similar note, was equally attractive to the gnats and mosquitoes in the neighborhood.

Not is this the only case on record of insects fighting by the aid of music.
A cloud of locusts came flying over the town of Geryville, in South ern Algeria, one day last August and began to descend in countless millions upon the fields and gardens.
The French officer in command of the garrison ordered out the band, and told them to make as much noise as possible. The locusts rose again and moved away, and the crops were saved.

Colors play an important part in the attraction or repulsion of certain insects. It was noticed during the Cuban war that the American soldiers who wore clads in the regulation navy-blue shirts suffered more severely than any others from the bites of mosquitoes. The surgeon general instituted a series of tests. He had boxes painted with various colors, and placed in a mosquito-haunted neighborhood. It was found that the one painted blue attracted 108 insects, next came brown and dark red, but these attracted only two each.
Yellow failed to secure a single mosquito visitor. As a consequence, blue shirts will no longer be issued to troops in mosquito-infested regions.
Travelers are recommended to wear some khaki-colored material when journeying in the tropics.

Portugal suffered terribly last summer from a plague of locusts.
Every possible means was employed to destroy them. Birds were let loose, poison strewed, great fires lighted; but all was in vain until an ingenious scientist of the town of Coimbra solved the problem. He found that a microbe resembling that of cholera was rapidly fatal to the insects.
Large cultures were made, and scattered over the places where the locusts fed. The effects were almost miraculous. The locusts died in millions, and a few days later the country was practically free of them.

The trees in the London parks have lately been suffering from the attacks of certain caterpillars. These bore into the bark and wood, and eventually cause the trunks to become rotten and the trees to die. It has been suggested that the best way to protect the trees from attacks of this kind will be to drive nails into the bark.
This is a common practice in Brazil with fruit trees attacked by caterpillars. The explanation is that the iron combines with the tannic acid in the bark to give the sap of the tree a flavor which is distasteful to insect enemies of all kinds.

It was in 1877 that the Colorado beetle first appeared upon our shores, landing in a cattle boat at Liverpool.
This destructive creature increased so rapidly that Paris green went up to five times its former price. Last year the same beetle reappeared at Tilbury. The board of agriculture at once took over the land and put a guard over it. It was drenched with paraffin, but even so the dreaded insect turned up again this season on the same patch of soil. By next year it is hoped to stamp the pest completely out.

The growers of mustard in South Lincolnshire have suffered terribly this year from the devastations of the mustard-bug. At last it occurred to one of them to turn chickens into the field. The chickens devoured the insects hungrily, and as many as 1,000 birds were afterward set to work in a single field. The mustard devourer has been practically wiped out of existence.

Long Imprisonment.

cate was found guilty of 69 different acts of fraud. For his industry and enthusiasm in the cause of dishonesty he was sentenced to 189 years' imprisonment.

The South African elephant has practically been exterminated, except south of the Cuneine and Zambezi rivers, where elephant hunting has been prohibited since 1830.

The custom still prevails among Persian widows of having small blue glass bottles for collecting tears, which are afterward poured over the graves of their husbands.

The marriage of Russian peasant girls is still a purely business arrangement. If they abort their bridegrooms or husbands, as they often have good reason to do, and run away they are almost invariably captured and cruelly beaten in public.

At a fire engine house in Kokomo, Ind., is a happy animal family, consisting of a fox terrier and four pups and four white kittens. The mother of the kittens died and the dog has adopted them. During the day the kittens and the pups play together.

A millionaire named Galland left to the city of Geneva all his property except his desk, which went to a lawyer named Couchet. When the desk was about to be handed over to him, $20,000 francs were found in it. The city claimed the money, but after a legal contest Couchet got it.

AIDS TO IMAGINATION.

A Little Gentle Satire on Some Popular Scientific Metaphors.

The human mind, says the London Globe, is so constructed—speaking with all respect to senior wranglers and men of like ability—that it is unable to realize large figures when they exceed a certain very moderate sum. As a consequence, those people whose task it is to bring home elaborate figures to the public are wont out of the fullness of their appreciation of the weakness of the human intellect, to express the figures by familiar and often more or less ludicrous metaphors. Mr. Sidney Holland the other day unfolded the number of miles to which the pills dispensed at the London hospital in one year would extend, and he no doubt brought home to his hearers and readers the inimitable benefits conferred by the hospital. But the method is more commonly used in popular science than in economics. We were told, for example, the other day that the way to appreciate the size of the sun was to put into it, in imagination, the earth and the moon. Both at their present distance would be easily contained within the circumference, and yet not reach the center. It is high time that some kind friend put in some neat figure the size of a microbe. In most people's minds it bulks as largely as a fair-sized chicken. The speed and nature of a Marconi message need similar illustration. For example, how much faster does it go than a cricket ball thrown up by Jessop? The effort should not be beyond the scope of the popular scientific lecturer.

Mr. A. R. Miller recently weighed a small ant and a dead grasshopper which it was dragging to its nest. The weight of the grasshopper was found to be 60 times greater than that of the ant. The force exerted by the ant in dragging the grasshopper along the road was therefore proportionately equal to that of a man weighing 150 pounds pulling a load of four and a half tons, or a horse of 1,200 pounds a load of 36 tons.

A City of Padlocks.
Irkutsk, in Siberia, is said to be a veritable city of padlocks. There are more padlocks on the shutters and doors of an Irkutsk shop than can be found in an English city of 200,000. There are as many as three padlocks on some shop doors, and every lower-story shutter bears from one to five—London Tit-Bits.

Rings Under Gloves.
According to a well-known London jeweler people who wear their rings to last should not wear them under gloves. The constant friction of the gloves wears the tiny points that hold the stones in place, and the result is that the stones fall out unless they are closely locked under.

HIS WORD FOR IT.

No Need for Hopkinsville People to Do Any Guessing.

No need for Hopkinsville people to fly about in search for relief from bad backs, urinary weaknesses and disorders and other symptoms of kidney troubles. A man whom you can believe says that Doan's Kidney Pills will reach all such cases.

C. B. Eades, of the firm of Eades & Davis, proprietors of the Coal Yard on Seventh street and the L. & N. R. R., and who lives at 402 East Seventh street, says: "I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and so highly recommended by persons who had used them that I went to Thomas & Trahern's drug store, procured a box and gave them a thorough trial. I had suffered for a long time with a heavy pain across the small of my back, sharp and acute at times. When I caught cold it always settled in my back, and here followed a weakness of the kidneys which was exasperating especially at night. I tried various remedies but none of them gave anything like as satisfactory results as I obtained from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. I am pleased to say that they brought me great relief. I have recommended the pills and will continue to do so to all my friends and acquaintances."

I tried everything to relieve them which failed until I used White's Cream Vermifuge: the first two doses brought four worms from one of them, the next two doses, twelve, one of them measuring twelve inches; the other child was only relieved of four worms. It is a most excellent medicine. White's Cream Vermifuge is good for children. It not only destroys worms, it helps the child to perfect growth, wards off sickness. 25c at R. C. Hardwick's."

The Delinctor for September.

The September Delinctor is an attractive number and presents a charming and up-to-date display of Autumn fashions. Letters from the foreign fashion centres, and illustrations of the newest fabrics, latest millinery and novelties in trimmings and accessories are valuable contributions in this all important month in the realm of style. A special feature is a Collection of Rare Samples, an illustrated article showing many precious bits of needlework that are included in a number of famous art collections. In the Flower Series, N. Hudson Moore charmingly recounts the story of the Lilac. A Mystery Luccheon, by Miles Bradford, contains some excellent suggestions for the table along with a good story. A house possessing the comforts and conveniences of the twentieth and the history and architecture of the eighteenth centuries is shown, as well as a couple of pages of exclusive photographs of pets of actors and actresses. Mirth Rara E. Laughlin writes entertainingly of the Fourfold Love; Margaret Hall has a helpful chapter on the relations of mistress and servant; and Mrs. Birney adds a paper on Childhood. In fiction, there is the concluding installment of The Bois-fort story, A Florida Cracker, by Virginia Frazer Boyle; a pretty love story, entitled The White Moth, by Edward Stratton Holloway; and an amusing monologue, An Afternoon Drive, by Mrs. Woodward Hudson. Among the poetical contributions are: The Song of the Corn, by Minna Smith; Grandma's Sampler, by Alice I. Eaton; Woodland Song, by Clinton Scollard; The Argosy, by Edmund Vance Chagles; Compensation, by Elizabeth Rogers. For the Children, Lina Beard describes and explains the construction in miniature of the Hanging of Babylon; Livingston Morse has a Firelight story, The Mouses' At-Home; and Michael White contributes an entertaining tale called Bobby's Garden. There is also the Sewing Lesson. The departments contain much information of practical value in the home.

GREAT ELEPHANTS.

Wonderful Exhibition of Pachydermic Perspicacity.

Of all the animals from foreign land, whether tame or wild, there are none that excite more general interest than the elephant. Their purpose as an animal for exhibition purposes has fairly passed away. In mere numbers they no longer attract especially. It is when they are trained that they become valuable. The largest collection of trained elephants in the world is now undoubtedly the collection comprising four distinct herds that is carried through the country and exhibited by the Adam Forepaugh and Sells Brothers Enormous Shows United. There are a score of them and each one of them has been trained to do everything possible for animals of his bulk to perform. As is well known, the elephant is about the most intelligent and sagacious as well as the largest of animals in the natural kingdom.

The one group of elephants which is the most famous lot of trained elephants are the world-wide-known Adam Forepaugh dancing elephants. They are eight in number and they move through the mazes of the quadrille in perfect order. It is a pity that they might not be seen in an enormous field so that there would be plenty of room for their huge bodies to move in. Confined as they are by the bounds of a circus ring, their dancing is so small a space, comparatively, is all the more wonderful. They will be seen here when these great shows exhibit, on Thursday, August 27th.

OHIO'S TURN

To Feel the Effects of Anti-Lynching Talk.

Wheeling, W. Va., Aug. 6.—St. Clairsville, O., was visited this evening when it was reported that Mrs. M. E. Stowe, a highly respected resident, had been criminally assaulted by C. E. Burns, a young negro lawyer. A mob is searching for Burns with the intention of lynching him if he is found and proven guilty.

Mrs. Stowe had been out for a walk during the afternoon. About 6 o'clock she started for home, the route extending through a woods. When within 200 yards of home she was seized by a negro, who she says was Burns, and thrown to the ground. She made a brave but unsuccessful struggle. When the woman regained consciousness her screams attracted the attention of several persons, who rushed to her assistance. She was taken home where she told of the assault.

Many men organized a posse and set out in pursuit of the negro, who escaped to the woods. The enraged mob is fully armed.

Mrs. Stowe is in a critical condition. A late report says bloodhounds have scented the trail and the chase is going on with renewed vigor.

Young Pheasants.

(Communicated.)

Mr. W. A. Glass, who raised some English Pheasants last year and liberated them on his farm, reports that several broods of young ones have been seen by the neighbors while cutting wheat this summer. Mr. Archie Higgins, who also liberated some, makes a similar report. There were several pairs placed on the farm of Mrs. J. C. Moore and it is more than probable they have done as well. It is hoped they will be protected as much as possible and given an opportunity to propagate. It is said that one pair will bring off two broods of from 12 to 15 young every season.

HALL OF ALL NATIONS.

To be an Attractive Feature of Cincinnati Festival.

Cincinnati, Aug. 9.—Novelty in the arrangement of exhibition features, is eagerly sought by promoters of industrial expositions. The Fall Festival Association of Cincinnati, claims to have solved the problem of combining usefulness and beauty, for display purposes, in a Hall of all nations for the September Festival. The floor of the great Music Hall will be arranged in a series of booths, each representing some nation of the world, England, France, Spain, Germany, Russia, Ireland, America, etc., with decorations, architecture, costumes, and so far as may be, exhibiting showing the typical products and industries of the country represented. The merchants and business men of Cincinnati, have not been slow to appreciate the decorative advantages of the Hall of all Nations, for presenting their goods and importations under the most favorable conditions. One important house will display silks, laces and feminine trifles, under the French tri-color; another, cotton ducks, prints and drillings, under the Stars and Stripes. The Brazilian flag will wave over a booth wherein the entire process of gathering, drying, roasting and making coffee from the berry will be carried on. The Russian booth will exhibit costly furs. "The cup that cheers and not inebriates," will be brewed under the claws of the yellow dragon, guardian of the Celestial Empire. Memories of the German fatherland, and of Erin, will be revived by handsomely decorated booths, maintained by patriotic societies, of those countries, whose citizens have found a new home under the gracious shadow of the American Eagle. The attendants of all the displays in the Hall of all Nations, will wear the costume of the country to whose booth they are attached, thus maintaining a picturesque ensemble.

UNDER CANVAS

Tobacco Matures Earlier and Is of Finer Texture.

The experiment of growing white burley tobacco under canvas now being made by the Continental Tobacco Company, on the farm of J. E. Cahill, near Maysville, Ky., promises to prove a remarkable success. The object is to obtain a fine leaf suitable for cigar wrappers. Mr. Cahill reports the tobacco growing under canvas without a blemish so far, and says it is at least a month earlier maturity than tobacco growing in the same field that was set out at the same time. That under canvas is more uniform in its growth and is much larger and of finer texture.

Ms. Cahill also concluded to experiment with growing tomatoes under canvas, and finds it is a success far beyond all anticipations. Those raised under canvas matured much earlier and are at least twice as large and superior in every respect.

MR. BAUBOLD ROBBED.

Thief Secures Good Sum—Very Sleek Job.

A thief extracted $40 in cash from Max Raubold's store Friday. The money was in a sack in the cash drawer and some small change lying by was not disturbed. The theft was committed in the day time and was one of the boldest pieces of work of the kind executed in Hopkinsville for a long time. It was evidently done by some one familiar with the premises.

The day before a thief entered a grocery on Fourth street, unobserved, and secured about $10 in a similar manner.
